Petition

Comes Now the Plaintiff, Monte E.
Johnson, and for his claims against Defendant, does state as follows:

1. That on a date shortly after March 17, 2013, Plaintiff entered the medical facility owned and operated by Valley Behavioral Health System, LLC., located in Barling, Arkansas.
2. That upon entering said facility, Plaintiff inquired at the front desk whether he might be able to consult with a psychiatrist on the premises. Shortly thereafter, Plaintiff was escorted to a room wherein he met with numerous personnel and filled out several forms. That Plaintiff spent several hours waiting to see the psychiatrist on staff but throughout most of the day, remained in the same area being asked numerous questions by people, none of whom were identified to be either a psychiatrist, a psychologist or any other mental health counseling professional.

3. That Plaintiff intermittently, throughout his time in this back area, inquired when he might be able to see a psychiatrist. That personnel employed by Defendant seemed to indicate that one was available but that he/she could not be seen at this time. No one EVER suggested to Plaintiff that he come back another ^{day.} Plaintiff, throughout the day, believed that he was going to be able to see a psychiatrist at some time during that day.

4. That near the end of the day, possibly late afternoon, Plaintiff was finally escorted by an employee, or employees, to an area different from where he had spent much of the day. Plaintiff believed, based upon information given to him by the employees, that he was being escorted to go see and consult with a psychiatrist.

5. That almost immediately upon going through a particular doorway, which closed behind him, ~~and~~ MR. JOHNSON found himself in a large open room where several other people were standing. MR. JOHNSON felt something was wrong and believed he may not be in the area where he was going to see any psychiatrist at all.

6. MR. JOHNSON shortly after entering said large room, went to what appeared similar to a nurse's station. He inquired about seeing a psychiatrist. He was ^{NOT} ~~never~~ given a straightforward answer, but instead various personnel made numerous statements that seemed to avoid the main question. After several inquiries which ^{were not} ~~did not~~ answered directly, Mr. Johnson was finally told both that he could not see the psychiatrist today, because none was on the premises, and, that he would have to wait until tomorrow to see any psychiatrist.

7. That Plaintiff became fully aware that he was in a locked mental facility and, he was not being allowed to leave despite his insistent demands. That he was reduced to finally have no means of protest, due to the actions of so-called "medical personnel"; ^{so} ~~that~~ he resisted in the only way he believed might be effective. Mr. Johnson chose to stand against his medical jail keepers by standing alone in the area where he had been intentionally led and, subsequently, intentionally imprisoned. Mr. Johnson stood in a single place while medical, so-called, personnel intentionally harassed, hounded, attempted to provoke and generally made themselves seem to Plaintiff like angry hyenas taunting its prey. Mr. Johnson stood his ground without movement, except for his eyes and occasional movement of muscles to relieve the pain of standing alone, in protest of his imprisonment, for more than six (6), very long, very physically taxing, very emotionally demanding, HOURS. All to no avail. The harassment and attempts to have Mr. Johnson to sit upon a chair behind him, ^{the chair} which had been placed(?) there and then removed(?) or had never been placed there at all, even though the Hyenas continued to cajole the prisoner into sitting down. When Mr. Johnson finally and wholly realized the ~~futtt~~ futility of his effort to extricate himself from his unlawful imprisonment, Mr. Johnson bolted toward the nearest exit door which led to the outside, as he could see through the glass in the door, but it was bolted shut. Mr. Johnson returned to his previous post where he was amused to see no alleged chair had been behind him.

8. Mr. Johnson eventually negotiated a truce under the pressure of his relentless and continuing imprisonment. He agreed with personnel that he would leave the common area and go to his private appointed room if they would promise, and

KEEP their promise, to leave the door open to his room.

9. That Mr. Johnson retired to his appointed room where he rested on the bed but remained alert for the remainder of his time in said appointed room.

10. That sometime after 9:00 a.m., the apparent prison warden, who claimed to be a psychiatrist, came into ~~my~~ ^{his} room accompanied by ~~my~~ ^{his} close cousin, whom ~~I~~ ^{he} loves very much. At the encouragement of ~~my~~ ^{his} cousin, ~~I~~ ^{he} relented in signing documents which were placed before ~~me~~ ^{him}, as ~~I~~ ^{he} was advised

he
 I would not be permitted to leave this confinement without executing
 at least one of the said documents.
 Before leaving the area of confinement, Mr. Johnson appointed his beloved cousin to request of so-called medical personnel a copy of their videotape which recorded the length of Mr. Johnson's imprisonment.
 Personnel confirmed the requested videotape existed but declined to provide a copy, nor make any offer,
 to ~~provide~~ ^{ANY} copy at any future
 date.

11. Mr. Johnson left the medical prison that afternoon and returned to his home.

Wherefore, Plaintiff demands of the Defendant, limited liability company, together with every related company, together with any person who profits from the industry of employees of the Defendant company:

1. That said parties mentioned above fully compensate Plaintiff for the ridiculous hounding of him, for his imprisonment, for his physical pain, for his emotional pain and for the complete confiscation of his corpus without any due regard for ~~his~~ his person.

2. That said parties mentioned above be punished sufficiently by paying punitive damages in an amount which will not deter them, which they likely are unlikely to be deterred from such abhorrent, ridiculous behavior, but will effectively prevent them from raining their version of hell down on any other human being, by both blacklisting every person in a profit taking, and/or supervising position, ever again from having authority in any medical facility, including the above referenced supervisors who trained said personnel, which receives government funds from any governmental entity, including, but not only limited to, the U.S. government and the State of Arkansas, which both currently are major fund sources for this facility.

3. That no person who participated in the harassment, including supervisors, ever again be allowed to work in a medical facility until they have been purged of all vestiges of their prior training and learned the difference between a potential patient and a potential customer.

4. That the incorporation and all licensures of said defendant and all related business entities be permanently revoked, not suspended.

5. That U.S. Marshals be ordered to take immediate possession of all videotape currently in existence,
whenever it may be found, of Mr.
Johnson's entire time spent anywhere on the above mentioned premises. Post haste.

6. That Plaintiff obtain his costs
and expenses.
